Do you have a new project and there are several people from different departments and offices involved? Is there a specific topic that needs to be discussed by certain people? Those are just few examples of the need for specialized communication channels within your company. Odoo offers a solution.

With this app, you can structure such communication by creating an internal group, especially for this project. You can easily add and remove members in the Odoo system - as everything else in Odoo, the management of this app is simple and easy.

Create A Public Mailing List

This flexible Odoo feature also allows you to create public groups, which can serve as mailing lists for your newsletters or for a community mailings.

It's a great way how to announce a big change in the company, release of a new product or other important news to your wide audience and followers.

You can create newsletter mailing list by adding a form on the website, where your visitors can subscribe by simply adding their email address which will be automatically added to your database.
